FIRE AND WATER CAUSE BIG LOSS

Spark From Blowtorch Responsible For Loss of $1,500 And $2,000.

TWO PROPERTIES DAMAGED

Fire in Harris Brothers' Property And Adjoining Building of H. L. Diehl Estate Gives Firemen Stiff Battle.

Fire, which caught from a spark of a blowtorch, gave firemen a battle for almost half an hour this morning and caused property damage, estimated by firemen from between $1,500 and $2,000 to the property of Harris Brothers and the adjoining building of the H. L. Diehl estate on Baltimore street.

Breaking out in a small garret in the Harris building to which access by firemen was impossible because of its size, the blaze gained considerable headway before water was thrown upon it. Both the new American-LaFrance pumper and the Boyd engine were pressed into service, and at one time three streams of water were being thrown into the small garret in the Harris property.

It was the second fire fought by the new LaFrance pumper, and firemen expressed satisfaction with the way in which it performed. The Boyd engine was stationed at the large plug in Center Square and two lines of hose were run from this machine. The LaFrance engine was connected with a smaller plug at the corner of East Middle and Baltimore streets. Only one stream was utilized from this engine.

Started From Spark

A spark from a blowtorch being operated by Lewis Bowers, an employe of A. B. Plank, plumber, in the bathroom on the second floor of the Harris property, in some unknown manner set fire to the woodwork behind a wall. Where the woodwork blazed up was in a sort of passage and was fanned into a blaze at once. Every precaution against just such an occurrence had been taken by the plumber, it is said.

Asbestos was used to cover all woodwork in the vicinity of the flame of the blowtorch, but a spark, nevertheless, got past the insulating material and fell on the woodwork.

The flames were first noticed by employes and patrons in Reichle's Meat Market, just opposite on Baltimore street, a few minutes before 10 o'clock.

The alarm was turned in by Raymond Twomey. The LaFrance was the first engine to arrive at the scene, and the Boyd followed within a few minutes.

Firemen Responded Quickly

Large crowds gathered in Baltimore street, while clouds of smoke poured from the roof of the Harris

KNOCKED DOWN BY FENDER ON TRUCK

Evelyn Spence, 12, Sustains Minor Injuries In Automobile Accident.

Running in front of a delivery truck of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Company on York street at 4:15 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, Evelyn Spence, aged 12 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spence, Hanover street, was struck by a fender on the machine and knocked down.

She was picked up, more frightened than hurt and taken to the Warner Hospital in the touring car of C. B. Hartman, where today her injuries are said to consist of several contusions on the face and body and a lacerated left knee. She rested comfortably during the night and it is not believed she sustained internal injuries.

According to eye witnesses of the accident the girl was standing on the curb in the middle of the second block on York street waiting an opportunity to cross the street. One truck passed her and she started to run across. She got to the middle of the street and evidently confused by the approach of the Ice and Storage Company truck, stopped. Believing, however, that she could get across the remaining distance before the truck came up, she started running again. James Shindledecker, West Middle street, driver of the machine, tried to avoid an accident, but failed and the left front fender of the car struck the girl.

The girl was saved from further injury by the fact that Mr. Shindledecker swerved the truck toward the curb, which prevented the wheels from running over her body.

The body will be brought to Gettysburg on the Philadelphia and Reading train arriving here at 1:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon, and taken to the funeral parlors of H. B. Bender & Son. Relatives and friends may view the remains from 7 to 9 o'clock, Friday evening.

ENGINE TEST WAS SATISFACTORY

Lifting Power of Pumps Proves Ample, And Fire Company Well Pleased.

WILL STAGE MOVIE SHOW

Division of Firemen is Made to Furnish Both Boyd and Brockway Engines With Full Crews.

The last test of the mechanical capacity of Gettysburg's new Brockway Fire Engine was satisfactorily concluded Wednesday evening, when the pumps on the engine lifted water a distance of 20 feet.

The experiment, which was tried at the Rock Creek bridge on the Harrisburg road, developed that the pumps, without priming, would draw water from the creek to the machine, 20 feet above, and discharge it from the end of a 50-foot section of hose only 35 seconds after the pumps were started.

A one-inch nozzle was used in the test, 300 gallons a minute being discharged at 120 pounds pressure.

A meeting of the committee will be held tonight, when formal acceptance of the new apparatus will be made.

At the Wednesday night meeting of the fire company, Francis Smith was elected to membership in the company, and the names of Roy Pittenturf, Preston Hull, Howard Cullison and Lester Scott were proposed for membership. J. Harvey Holtzworth was placed on the retired list.

A committee consisting of Earl Stallsmith, Harry Koch, S. E. Swope, John Codori and Walter D. Sterner was appointed to make plans for holding a motion picture show on March 23, 24 and 25. The title of the film will be "The Third Alarm."

ARREST TWO GIRLS IN GETTYSBURG

Sheriff Hartman Picks Up 13-Year-Old Runaways From York.

Two 13-year-old girls of York were arrested in Gettysburg yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Hartman on charges of being wayward children. One is accused of larceny. Informations were brought against the little girls before Alderman Walter F. Owen in York by the parents of the prisoners. They were held here pending the arrival this morning of Detective Jacob Cookes, who took them to their homes in York.

The young runaways are Irene Sweitzer, 13 years old, and Florence Sulcer, also 13 years old. The former is accused by her father, Henry Sweitzer, with being a wayward child and also with larceny of some of her mother's clothing. Miss Sulcer has been arrested only on the wayward child charge.

Wednesday afternoon the little girls were picked up by Sheriff Hartman on the Lincoln Highway, a short distance east of Gettysburg. When questioned, they said they were from Gettysburg, but when asked where their parents lived their unsatisfactory replies showed that they were runaways. They were then taken in charge by the sheriff, and later their names and their York addresses were ascertained.

As soon as the fathers of the girls learned where their daughters were they swore out the warrants, which were directed to Detective Cookes. He took them to York today.

FEDERAL MEN AFTER DODGERS

Indictments Found Against Two For Failure To Make Proper Returns.

CHARITY CLAIMS LARGE

Churches And Institutions Apparently Receive Ample Contributions From Citizens.

New York, March 15.—With today the last day on which Federal taxes may be paid on last year's income, the Government Wednesday began jacking up citizens alleged to have failed to report their entire receipts in other years.

While last-minute returns for 1922 were pouring into internal revenue offices Wednesday afternoon a Federal Grand Jury in Manhattan indicted John T. Hettrick, famous "code of practice" lawyer, exposed by the Lockwood legislative committee which investigated the building trust, on a charge of perjury.

It was alleged that the lawyer had reported an income of only $24,560 for 1919, with taxes of $221, whereas his income was $50,661, on which he should have paid $5370.

At the same time a Federal grand jury, in Brooklyn, indicted Frank Czieslik, a real estate operator and stock promoter, for alleged failure to report his entire income in 1920.

Czieslik paid a tax which investigators considered too small. The case was passed along to Washington and orders were received to make a more extensive investigation, as a result of which, it was alleged that the promoter owed the Government $1,952,000 in taxes and penalties on an income of about $3,000,000.

Charities Fare Well

Collector Rafferty in Brooklyn casting his eye on contributions to churches and charitable institutions, which are exempt from tax, said that if these institutions had received all the gifts credited to them by taxpayers they would need no more funds this year, at least.

Meanwhile announcement was made that the Government was six years behind in auditing returns and that expert accountants were urgently needed. Government agents said that they only now were completing their audit for 1917, and that $300,000,000 additional in taxes due the Government already had been uncovered. It was pointed out by these agents that if this amount could be culled each year from old tax returns, the Government could hope to collect more than one billion dollars in taxes which, in cursory examinations of returns, it had overlooked.

In setting forth the country's need for accountants, the agents said that approximately 10,000 positions, paying $1800 to $3000 a year annually, were open. The Government, with 25,000,000 returns still to audit, was said to be rapidly sliding behind in its work.

DENIES $750,000 OFFER

Tex Rickard Says Firpo Under Contract For Year.

(By Associated Press)

New York, Mar. 15.—The $750,000 offer reported to have been made to Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, by Argentine promoters for a title match with Luis Angelo Firpo in Buenos Aires next November is valueless, Tex Rickard, Madison Square Garden promoter, declared today. Rickard said he had Firpo under exclusive contract for a year.

Rickard admitted he had no information concerning possible overtures to Dempsey or the latter's manager, but asserted that he had not been approached by the prospective promoters of Firpo-Dempsey match in Buenos Aires.

Rickard, himself, has considered for some time the possibility of matching Dempsey and Firpo in the Argentine capital, but today reiterated his statement that he would make no definite plans until the South American has met one or two other heavyweight contenders.

EXPELLED FROM EXCHANGE

Wilmington Firm Alleged To Have Violated Rules.

(By Associated Press)

New York, March 15.—The New York stock exchange today announced the expulsion of Frank C. Lackey, head of the firm of F. C. Lackey and company, of Wilmington, Delaware. He was admitted to the exchange on June 15, 1916.

The charges on whch Lackey was expelled were based on allegations that his firm manipulated reports on orders entrusted to them for execution and that profits over and above the proper commissions were created. These excess profits were retained by the firm in violation of the rules of the exchange.

LEGION MAN TOLD HINDENBURG PLAN

G. W. Powell Says Move To Restore Hohenzollerns To Power Impends.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—A revolution for the restoration of the Prussian monarchy, including the reinstatement of the Hohenzollerns, is impending in Germany under Von Hindenburg's leadership, in the opinion of Garland W. Powell, national director of the American Commission of the American Legion, who Wednesday issued a warning to all Americanism officers of the Legion to be on guard against German propaganda.

Rattling Sabre, He Says

"The picture of Von Hindenburg is reappearing in the American papers as it did in 1914," Mr. Powell stated. "He has been selected by the German Monarchist party to rattle the sabre in the Kaiser style and bring about a coup d'etat to restore the old regme. He has opened this campaign by calling for war with France, in his address to the German Veterans' League in Hanover Tuesday. Hindenburg is still the hero of Germany and his reappearance is a menace to the Peace of the World.

Sees Propaganda In U. S.

"The American people do not realize," said Mr. Powell, "that Germany can afford to spend millions for propaganda in America while refusing to pay reparations to France and the Allies on the plea of poverty.

"Germany today is in a better position for war than the world realizes," Mr. Powell declared, "but this German propaganda is being exerted to bring the American people to believe otherwise."

FIRE AND WATER CAUSE BIG LOSS

building. Within nine minutes after the alarm was sounded water was being played on the blaze. Water was first thrown on the flames from the street, but this proving insufficient, the hose was taken onto the roof of the Diehl property and thrown into small apertures under the roof of the Harris building.

Work Was Dangerous

This required careful handling of the hose, as the firemen were compelled to stand either on the peak of the roof or its sloping sides, to play the water into the small openings which led into the garret. Several accidents were narrowly averted when the nozzle became unmanageable.

While firemen were directing their efforts to subduing the flames in the garret of the Harris property, fire broke out under the shingles on the roof of the Diehl property on which most of the firemen were standing. A hole was cut into the roof and water turned on this burning section for several minutes before it was gotten under control.

For more than 25 minutes firemen played streams of water and the contents of hand chemical tanks on the fire before Fire Chief James B. Aumen gave the signal to stop.

Rafters and other woodwork in the garret of the Harris building were badly charred by the flames. One side of the building near the top was also damaged by the fire. The roof and some of the rafters supporting it, in the Diehl property, were damaged.

Water Caused Damage

Water, likewise, caused considerable damage to walls and ceilings in both buildings. The second and third floors of the Harris building were unoccupied, since repairs were being made. The first floor is occupied by the furnishing store of Harris Brothers, owners of the building. Water seeped through the ceiling from the third floor on through the second floor ceiling and fell into the storeroom, doing some damage to stock.

In the property belonging to the Dehl estate, a two-story building, Charles Culp lived on the second floor, while the first floor was occupied by Shuman's Drug store and the office of the Gettysburg Gas Company. Water thrown on the roof of this building came through the ceiling into the Culp apartment and soaked through the ceiling to Shuman's Drug store, completely flooding the place.

The loss on the property of Harris Brothers is fully covered by insurance, while the loss on the Diehl building is said to be partly covered.

England Has Oldest Manuscripts.

The oldest manuscript written on cotton paper in England is in the British museum, and bears the date of 1049. The most ancient manuscript on the same material in the library of Paris is dated 1050. In 1085 A. D. the Christian successors of the Spanish Saracens made paper of rags instead of raw cotton, which is recognized by its yellowness and brittleness.

MANY WEAPONS SHOWN AT TRIAL

EXPERT GOES ON STAND

Testifies That Defendant Gave Fingerprints And Answered Questions Readily.

Mineola, N. Y., March 15.—A small arsenal was placed in evidence Wednesday at the trial of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wells, charged with second-degree murder in connection with the death of James Pettit, tavernkeeper, who was shot at the Massapequa Inn last January.

Mrs. Wells, known as "Billie," lived at the Inn as hostess. She was alleged by the State to have quarreled and killed Pettit, who had a reputation as a marksman.

Five shotguns and a revolver with a bullet stuck in the barel were produced in court while Charles W. Hanson, a finger-print expert, was on the stand. Also introduced in evidence were the blood-stained pajamas worn by Pettit, a rug, a pair of slippers, a box of shotgun shells and a woman's hat found in the bedroom.

Mrs. Wells, who contends she was not at the inn when Pettit was shot, displayed marked interest in the testimony of Hanson, who said she did not object to having her finger-prints taken the night of the shooting and answered all questions readily.

Hanson testified that he had examined various articles in Pettit's room the day after the innkeeper's heart had been blown to pieces with a shotgun. He said he had found a half-consumed cigarette lying under Pettit's body, and that he believed the dead man had been smoking when he was killed. The State contends suicide was impossible.

McSHERRYSTOWN MAKES FIRE RULE

Sets Charge of $25 For First Zone And $50 In Second Zone.

The McSherrystown town council at the monthly meeting held Tuesday evening approved an agreement which had been drawn up by a committee composed of members of the council and members of the fire company governing the use of the fire truck outside the borough limits. By the new arrangement the sum of $25 will have to be paid by the individual sending in a call from a half mile radius from the borough limits and the sum of $50 from a three mile radius. This does not include Midway and Brushtown to which places this service will be free nor does it include calls from chiefs of chartered fire companies.

The agreement as drawn up by the committee and read at the council meeting follows: At a joint meeting of a committee from the council and a committee from the fire company in regard to taking the fire truck into rural districts, the following action was agreed upon; same to be presented at the next regular meeting of the council and the next regular meeting of the fire company, to be approved.

The first district will be one half mile from the borough limits, for which we shall charge twenty five dollars.

The second district will be three miles from the borough limits for which we shall charge fifty dollars.

The party calling will be responsible for the payment of the $25 or $50 as the case may be; same to be paid into the borough treasury and credited to the fire company.

It is understood that this does not pertain to Midway and Brushtown, nor to calls from chiefs of chartered fire companies.

The joint committee of the council and the fire company do recommend to the chief burgess that he give to the chief of the fire department the privilege of taking the truck into the first and second districts.

The agreement was adopted by the council as read and a motion was carried to place it on the minutes. The report of the burgess, H. K. Pfaltzgraff, included the granting of building permits to John Weaver, and Peter Gephart, 50 cents; a license to the Hanover Sanitary bakery, $7.50; and a license to W. J. Bair, $5. The supervisor was instructed to repair Cemetery street. The light committee reported a number of lights out during the month and $1 was consequently deducted from the light bill. Orders were granted to the amount of $325.38. All members were in attendance with the exception of Edward A. Noel.

RUTH'S BLACKMAIL CHARGE IS DENIED

Dixon Girl's Lawyer Scouts Claim That He Does Not Know Her.

New York, March 15.—Miss Dolores Dixon's $50,000 suit against "Babe" Ruth, Yankee home-run slugger, based on alleged attacks made during automobile trips on Long Island, remained unfiled Wednesday.

George Feinberg, the girl's attorney, said the complaint probably would be filed today. He denied Ruth's charge that the action was a blackmail plot.

Papers in the county clerk's office at Brooknly show that an order was signed appointing Barbara V. Escoe guard ad litem for the girl to permit the bringing of an action for damages against "Herman C. Ruth." "Babe's" name is George Herman Ruth. Mr. Feinberg said, however, that the "Babe" was the defendant. He declared he would disprove Ruth's claim that he did not know the girl.

Hyman Bushel, Ruth's attorney, has employed detectives to trace her history.

"Whole Thing Absurd!"

New Orleans, March 15.—"The whole thing is absurd," said Mrs. Ruth Wednesday. "Mr. Ruth told me all about the case as soon as he learned of it. I am glad he's going into court and fight the case. I know as well as my husband does that the whole thing is a stupid attempt to blackmail, which will be exposed in court."

Ruth was asked what his next step in the case would be.

"I can't do anything until I get back to New York. Then I'll go into court. It will not take me long to dispose of the girl's charges," he replied.

SWEPT OVER NIAGARA

Well Dressed Woman Leaped Into River Near Brink.

(By Associated Press)

Niagara Falls, Mar. 15.—A woman leaped into the river about 30 feet above the brink of the American Falls today, and was swept to death over the cataract. She appeared to be about 25 years old and was well dressed. She was wearing a brown tailored suit, gray stockings and a chinchilla dolman.

She engaged an automobile at the Imperial Hotel earlier in the day to make a tour of the points of interest. In the car she left a small hand bag containing $18 in money, a railroad check issued at Albany, and a string of spar beads. She did not register at the hotel, as she only ate breakfast there.

LEST WE FORGET 1914—1918 DAYS

Colonel James K. P. Scott, Carlisle Street, Writes of Germany in France.

Colonel James K. P. Scott, of Gettysburg, who has spent many years of his life in France and Spain, at the present time of French occupation in Germany, has written an article for The Times, "Lest We Forget the Days of 1914 to 1918, the Days of German Occupation in France."

LEST WE FORGET
(Communicated)

Peace, with honor to the world; with justice to the Hun. That was the thought in our minds when we celebrated the treaty of Versailles that followed the world's war. An American president personally participated in formulating that treaty—but an American senate turned it down. The unsolved problems of both peace and justice, seemingly, cannot be left to public men with minds soaked in politics.

The possession of the Ruhr district east of the Rhine by a French army, presented to us daily by the scare lines of our newspapers, is new matter while the martyrdom of the women, girls, old men and the helpless poor that fell into the hands of a German army that occupied Lille, a city of France, is forgotten. October 13, 1914, a German army occupied the city, a manufacturing center of France—our women folks will recall the "Lisle thread" they used to ask for at the stores—until driven back beyond the Rhine in October 1918.

Four years of hell and torture. At the beginning a fine of 6,000,000 francs (in gold) is imposed on the city and sixty leading citizens are locked up and held as hostages for the fulfillment of conditions they had no part in making. A reign of terror begins for those who remain in the city.

Domiciliary visits any old time, day or night. A voice in the street loud enough to be heard is followed by arrest and fine. At 5:00 p. m. citizens must retire to their homes and close their doors and windows. A miuute late and they are taken to a lock-up, fined, and beaten. Two old citizens failed one day to salute the commandant as he passed; the brute rides them down, they are arrested and shot to death without trial. It will be recalled that there are no young men left in the city—they are all in the army.

Then comes the deportation of females between certain ages. For the sake of God, can the women of our land ever forget what the women of this city had to endure? Soldiers enter a house giving the women and girls thirty minutes to assemble on the pavement. In the street the victims knew not where they were going, covering their faces with their shawls—they knew what they were going for.

A German officer is lodged in the house of a citizen. He boasts that he knows how to make women work: "Lock them up without food or drink until, their will power weakened by hunger, they will accept the conditions—C'est plus long", he says, "mais on y arrive toujours". It takes a long time—but we get there: these are the exact words of this German official.

The thought horrifies civilization that these women cannot come back—they cannot look their husbands in the face again. The girl of tender years, in whose mind there had not yet come the instinct of motherhood, finds herself with a babe in her arms. She may have had a sweetheart—or only the dream of one—but that dream can never stir her sleep again.

The German empire appealed to war. The government born on its ashes—a republic, it is ture—must pay. They cannot hide themselves behind the skirts of their women and helpless poor, and mouth the claims of humanity.

Doubt About Some Precious Stones.

In olden times there was no such fine discrimination in jewels as is the case today. No expert has been allowed to examine the famous Braganza diamond in the crown jewels of Portugal; there is a strong probability that what passes for a diamond is merely a colorless topaz. The terms "ruby" and "carbuncle" in olden days meant any red stone, from the true ruby to the garnet. Scholars are still undecided whether the word translated as "sapphire" in the Old Testament referred to the stone which we know as sapphire or to that which is now called lapis lazuli.

Lettie straightened, but took this blow rather placidly. "We-ell, Well, all right. Any more strings to it?"

"For Sunday," continued Mrs. Penfield, "when you've been good through the week."

"Oh, that's dead easy," scoffed Lettie, with great jauntiness. "You just watch me. If I try, I can beat the angels behaving."

Uncle Jerry appeared in the doorway. "Say, Car'line, I toddled 'round to see if you could give me a room."

"A room? Why, Uncle Jerry, we haven't got any."

"Yes, you have." Rolling his eyes whimsically, he jerked his thumb upward.

"The loft? My land, you couldn't sleep up there. Tain't fitted up nor nothing. There was a family of mice tried to live in it once, but I always thought they gave it up of their own accord, rather'n 'cause they disapproved of the trap."

"I'm smarter'n a family of mice," chuckled the big man, "and if you can't think of any greater objection, I'm going to move in. It'd seem kind o' good to be near the only folks I got a claim on, and besides, I—I got another reason. Thank you, Car'line. I'll be 'round tonight with my traps. Good-by."

"Why, Uncle Jerry— Wait—you haven't thought—"

But he was gone. His hearty laugh trailed back to her as she reached the door.

"My goodness, I'm 'fraid he's short of money," she thought. "I wish we had a room for him."

CHAPTER VI

Perennial Prue.

"I can't set down, Mis' Penfield. I just come in to borrow an egg. I didn't know I was out, but I'll get some more termorrow."

"Bless you, Mrs. Wopple, you came to the wrong place. I hain't got an egg right now. I used the last one Saturday, and I shan't have any more till—till later."

"My landy Goshen!" cried the amazed Mrs. Wopple. "I never heard of anybody keepin' house 'thout havin' eggs constant."

Mrs. Penfield laughed. "Well, I'd hate to be so beholden to a hen as that. Seems like exalting a bird above a human being, don't it?" She thrust her darning needle placidly into Crink's stocking.

"You got an awful light way of takin' serious matters," disapproved Mrs. Wopple. "Me, I shouldn't—heavens to Betsy! What's that?" Her eyes rolled wildly toward the ceiling.

"It's my Uncle Jerry," smiled Mrs. Penfield.

"Your Uncle Jerry! What's he doin' up there?"

"Living—or getting ready to. He's just moved in."

"My land!" Mrs. Wopple, who had been standing in the doorway, leaned against the jamb, as if props in her system had suddenly given way. "Well, if he's goin' to try to live up there, he must be awful poor."

"I don't know," replied Mrs. Penfield calmly. "I haven't asked him."

"Guess there ain't no need," sniffed Mrs. Wopple. "Actions is good 'nough evidence. At his time of life, he must be a failure if he's willin' to hang out in a place that nobody ever thought of livin' in. Me, I'm glad I'm well connected. Ain't nobody in my fam'ly but what lives better'n I do—and I'm pretty comfort'ble."

"That's nice," commented Mrs. Penfield cordially. "Ain't nothing so satisfying as being satisfied."

"There you go laughin' again," said Mrs. Wopple, with a touch of exasperation. "I s'pose in another minute you'll be tellin' me you like failure better'n success."

Mrs. Penfield was amused, rather than offended. "No, I shan't, although sometimes there ain't much diff'rence in 'em. Depends on what kind you mean. There's some kinds of success that I'd be glad to head straight for. But I expect you meant money, 'cause that's what Uncle Jerry ain't giving many symptoms of having."

"Sure I meant money. Way 'tis with me, I hain't got no respect for a man that can't make money."

"Is that so?" Mrs. Penfield's question was purely rhetorical; also carefully impersonal, although mentally she glanced for a moment at the weazened man who was Mrs. Wopple's husband, with the selfish, inquisitive eyes and the selfish, grasping hands. "Money success is something I've spec'lated 'bout considerable; it's one of the queerest things I know of. 'Pears like it ain't anything in itself; it's just something that you can use any way you like."

"Exactly," put in Mrs. Wopple, nodding vigorously. "That's why—"

"Say, Car'line, where in thunder's your hammer? And you got any old tin? The mouse-holes is as thick—" The voice, growing nearer, stopped abruptly as Uncle Jerry entered the kitchen and perceived an unknown neighbor. Mrs. Penfield introduced him.

"Pleased to meet you, I'm sure," acknowledged Mrs. Wopple irreproachably. "I hope you're goin' to enjoy yourself in Mis' Penfield's loft." Her voice was acidly sweet.

Jerry Winston's eyes twinkled. "Thanks. I'm going to s'prise you by doing that very thing."

To Mrs. Penfield's amazement, they looked steadily at each other through a moment of tacit appraisement, more significant than speech. And it was as if each felt the decision of the other and acted upon it, for Mrs. Wopple flushed and departed with stammered leave-taking; and when she had gone, Jerry Winston laughed.

"Sweet little dame!" he murmured. "Pepper up an icicle, and you got her duplicate, eh?"

"Sh-h, Uncle Jerry," begged Mrs. Penfield in a whisper. "Here's Perennial Prue coming, and I wouldn't have her hear you."

"Who's she?" inquired Uncle Jerry, in a corresponding whisper. "I guess I'll get out."

"You will not," Mrs. Penfield caught his hand. "She's one of the nicest—" She broke off.

Prudence Hapgood was standing in the doorway. She was of delicate build, dainty, with a pretty air of self-possession that resulted from the consciousness of family background.

Jerry Winston Betrayed Embarrassment.

No longer young, she had yet retained many of the elements of youth, like a flower that has been dipped in wax.

"If I'm intruding—"

"Nonsense, my dear," interposed Mrs. Penfield. "You're always welcome. Besides, I want you to get acquainted with my Uncle Jerry."

Prudence Hapgood acknowledged the introduction with a grace that was unusual in The Custard Cup. But Jerry Winston betrayed embarrassment, most surprising, most unlike his accustomed assurance. A flush rose under his heavy tan; he mumbled incoherently.

"I've heard about you," said Prudence. "And sometime I want to hear about the lumber and the camp and the woods and—everything. I make pillow tops, and I need some new designs. I'm looking for an inspiration."

"Inspi— Why, now, look here—that is, artistic things ain't in my line. I—"

She smiled at him gently. "I should do the designing, Mr. Winston, but I need a new motif. I've been using flowers and black cats and holly. I need some ideas for landscapes—something primitive, wilder— Oh!—Oh!—"

BRENNAN SUFFERS BRAIN CONCUSSION

Result of Firpo's Terrific Knockout Blow Not Thought To Be Serious.

New York, Mar. 15.—Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, who was taken to the Jewish Memorial Hospital early Wednesday with concussion of the brain, the result of his knockout by Luis Angel Firpo on Monday night at Madison Square Garden, was declared by his physicians to be in no immediate danger.

"His condition apparently is not serious," asserted Dr. Edward L. Spitzer, brain specialist who diagnosed the case, "but it is too early to predict development."

X-ray photographs were taken of the pugilist's head soon after he reached the hospital, but these, Dr. Spitzer said, probably would not be examined until today. At present, he added, there is no evidence of injury to the bone.

"Brennan shows every sign of having taken an awful beating," the specialist declared, "but his general condition gives no cause now for alarm."

Chatted With Wife

Except for a brief period of semi-consciousness early Wednesday morning, when he was taken to the hospital, Brennan was in a cheerful mood, and Wednesday night chatted for a while with his wife and Leo P. Flynn, his manager. His 19-month-old daughter also was at his bedside earlier in the day.

The blow which knocked out Brennan and resulted in his injury was a right-hand swing, landing just behind the left ear with the force of a sledge-hammer. This punch followed a series of crushing right and left uppercuts with which Firpo battered the Chicagoan into a state of semi-helplessness in the twelfth round.

Brennan was bent double when the final punch came and fell face downward for the count of ten. Barely able to crawl to his hands and knees, he was helped to his corner and out of the ring in a dazed condition.

Symptoms Developed Yesterday

Although he had complained of a headache and occasional sharp pains in the spot where Firpo's knockout punch landed, Brennan displayed no critical symptoms until early Wednesday morning. His wife became alarmed, called a physician and, on the latter's advice, the boxer was taken to the hospital as a precautionary measure.

Denies Throwing Fight

In a talk to newspaper men at Madison Square Garden Tuesday afternoon, Brennan emphatically denied charges that he had "thrown" the fight to Firpo, and laid his defeat entirely to the South American's superior punching prowess.

Clean Threshing Brings Good Profits

WHEN a farmer has his grain threshed clean and done quickly, with the least labor, and does not have his straw all cut to pieces, that farmer is satisfied and will pay a good price for threshing his crop.

The Farquhar 1923 Vibrators will do an exceptionally clean job of threshing and save labor—are equipped with self-feeder, automatic weigher and bagger, wind stacker, and every device for clean, safe, quick work.

The perfect running balance established in the Improved Farquhar Vibrators gives a uniform motion and speed to the entire machine. Practically all the grain is separated immediately back of the cylinder, giving ample room for cleaning.

Threshermen are making nice profits with Farquhar Vibrators because they do nice work, have long years of service and—please the farmers.

With the expectations of buying a new lighting plant in the near future, the Community Hall has recently been wired and lighting fixtures installed by Mr. Shue, of Biglerville.

There will be a play, entitled "Morning Callers," at the regular meeting of the Mt. Joy Community Association, Ltd., on March 16th. There will be no admission fee. Everybody welcome.

The play, "The Old New Hampshire Home," a melodrama in three acts, which was staged at the community Hall on Saturday night March 10, by the Mt. Mt. Joy Community Band, proved to be a success.

The seating capacity of the Hall was filled to the utmost.

There was beautiful scenery for each act which was painted by William Hudson. Music was furnished by the Band Orchestra with Miss Naomi Miller as pianist. The play was concluded by singing of "My Old New Hampshire Home," by Clarence King with the rest of the actors joining in the chorus.

The play was so thoroughly enjoyed by the audience that the public has demanded that it be staged again in the near future. The date has not been decided yet.

The cast of characters were as follows: Farmer Winthrope, Arthur Baker; Mrs. Winthrope, Mrs. Emory Gitt; Mabel Winthrope, Miss Golda Sherman; Oliver Stanhope, a young blacksmith in love with Mabel, Clarence King; Edward Van Dusen, a polished villain secretly married to Mabel, Jennings Collins; Rawlings, in league with Van Duseh, Alton Motter; Muffins, a young lady with a mind of her own and not afraid to speak it, Miss Pauline Patterson; Micky Mullins, a traveling tinker, Clair Trostle; Moses, a Hebrew joker, A. The highest priced pair of mules sold for $337, while the highest horses brought $105.50. The highest cow was auctioned off at $90 and shoats sold for $8.50 apiece. Chickens brought 40 cents a pound. A binder brought $152 and a corn planter $62. Edward Prosser was the auctioneer.

Worth Thinking Over.

Tut-ankh-Amen in all His Glory

Had No Such Treasure House As This From Which to Choose

Apparel for His Family, or Furnishings for His Home.

Gold and silver and precious stones, he had in profusion, and wonderful artificers in every craft.

But if he could come into our store today, he and his wives would be more amazed by what they would see than were those Egyptologists that opened the great tomb at Luxor.

Here are more exquisite patterns and colorings in rich new silks of this one Spring Season than were created during his entire reign.

Here is such apparel for Easter, of such artistic beauty, daintiness and variety as would have bewildered and astounded the Court of the powerful Pharaoh.

Here are stockings, neckwear and veilnngs of such fineness and perfection as he would not have believed possible from human handiwork.

And all of these wonderful things—not made for a rich and powerful monarch and his court; but for every woman of this community, for whom the best is none too good and than whom there are no better or more worthy women on earth for the wearing of the finest and most beautiful things that the handicraft of man can produce.

A process for joining mica has been patented by a Calcutta man. It consists in bringing the parts into contact, applying a mica solution, and subjecting the whole to heat and to slight pressure. With borax used as a flux mica may thus be joined to metal.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a perscription and that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrhu, to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allenrhu with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. —Peoples Drug Store— can supply you.
